SMART

It's good to have fun online but you have to stay safe!
There are a lot of people who are rude and abusive so never think someone you don't know is your friend.

SMART

Meeting someone online is a dangerous thing. Not everyone you meet online is who they say they are. If someone asks to meet you online, tell an adult.

SMART

Accepting emails and other sorts of messages can be dangerous. Especially if they're tagged, they could contain a virus and can render your computer useless.

SMART

- Information that you find online is not always correct. Make sure you check different websites to find out what's true. Always make sure you search appropriate things!

SMART

- If someone online is rude to you tell a teacher or adult you can trust. If you don't, they may keep bullying you and you will not be happy.

Scenario

- A kid online has been told to meet someone in a place near him. He has been talking to this mysterious figure for sometime and is unsure whether to meet him or not. What should he do?

- A) Tell an adult
- B) Go meet him without telling anyone
- C) Be rude to him
