The Internet is great in many ways:

There are many different ways
to keep safe online

Follow the SMART rules

- Keep your personal information a secret.
 - If you wouldn't say it to a stranger on the street, don't share it with strangers on the internet...

Follow the SMART rules

- Don't meet up with a stranger that you've only met on the internet.
 - Online games can be a great place for chatting to your friends. Always know who you are talking to. If anyone requests to meet up, politely disagree.

Follow the SMART rules

- Accept letters only if you know who they are from.
 - Think before you accept something from someone online e.g. a file, a download, a picture etc. It may contain a virus. If you don't know who it's from, and it has an attachment... DELETE IT!

Follow the SMART rules

- Make sure you know who you're talking to and you have a trustworthy website.
- Somebody may be lying about their personal information. Always know who you're talking to.

Follow the SMART rules

- Always tell an adult.
- Tell an adult if someone or something makes you feel worried or uncomfortable online. Also tell someone if a friend of yours needs help online too.

Which Rule Should You Remember?

- Say you and a friend are playing a game that you play all the time. However, today you both get a message from a person calling you a really bad player.
- What should you do?
- Who can you tell?
- What can you do on a website if this happens?

The 'report abuse' button on a website allows children to report any suspicious individuals or threatening behavior directly to the police, quickly and easily. Avoid using any websites that DO NOT have this button

Which Rule Should You Remember?

- You've been playing a game for ages and see new player has joined. He wants to meet up and has an awesome game at home he wants you to play with him.
- Who do you ask?
- Do you accept his/her request?
- What should you do?
